AT THE WORLD'S FAIR

Chicago Day at the Great Exposition.

THE GREATEST EVENT YET.

The Attendance Larger Than Any Other Day by Many Thousand—The Most Sanguine Hopes of the Native Chicagoans and the World's Fair Officials Fully Realized.

CHICAGO, Oct. 10.—Seven hundred thousand people, doubtless the greatest crowd that ever congregated, visited the world's fair yesterday, breaking the greatest one-day record at Paris by an overwhelming majority, completely smothering the "big day" figures of any other exposition ever held, and establishing a mark which, it is safe to predict, the present generation will never see attained.

The most sanguine hopes of the native Chicagoan and the world's fair officials were realized to their fullest extent. The dedication and opening days of the exposition appeared hilltoppers in contrast with their festival. As soon as the transportation companies began to move the multitude of humanity towards the Jackson park on cable, electric, horse and steam cars, and the lake steamers, they found thousands ready to be carried to the grounds.

The turnstiles were set in motion at 6:20 and there was a waiting crowd outside at that hour. From that time from the administration dome the eye could behold a mighty army of men, women and children marching from the entrances over the broad walks and along the great casino, all in holiday dress, smiling and merry, and carrying all manner of receptacles for luncheons. The advance purchases of over 250,000 souvenir tickets prevented a blockade at the ticket offices, and the hundreds of employees at the gates handled the stream of incoming people without trouble.

The scenes created by the multitude probably have had no counterpart in American history. In many respects they reminded the observer of the scenes on England's great derby day on Epsom Downs, of London's bridges and streets adjacent to the stations. Every exposition building was decorated especially in honor of Chicago, but the Illinois building was the most gorgeous of all. The dome was covered with flags and streamers, which fluttered in the mild morning breeze. The walls and windows and roofs of other buildings were brilliant of colors of all nations. In the west entrance of Illinois building the magic name of Chicago was set in electric globes ready for the night's illumination.

The first event arranged by the world's fair commissioners took place at 9 o'clock and was more closely associated with Chicago's birth and early history than anything else on the program. The old Pottawatomie chief, Simeon Pokagon, whose father dedicated the land upon which Chicago is now situated, came from his home in Hartford, Mich., for Chicago day, stood beside the Columbia bell with uncovered head in the dress of white, and eyed the homage of thousands. He was born 63 years ago, Sept. 27, on the day that the transfer was delivered to the United States. He wore a suit of beaded buckskin and moccasins, and looked a typical Indian on the warpath, although he came with a message of peace, standing as a historical figure between the Chicago of yesterday and the Chicago of today.

These two old and feeble Pottawatomie chiefs were the ideals of the hour. Several thousand people scrambled and pushed in a wild endeavor to shake their hands. Miss Emma C. Sickels, the heroine of Pine Ridge, introduced the two Indians to the multitude which surrounded the new clarion of liberty.

Referring to Chief Pokagon, she said: "This magnificent city now has as its guest an old and feeble man whose life has been spent in exile from the land of his father. Where his father once presided over councils he now returns to find an exposition of the peace and progress of the world. This is the first time that a place of honor or any recognition has been given at the Columbian exposition to the first inhabitants and owners of this country. The ground upon which these two Indians stand is really theirs, because the United States government has not yet paid them for it. But money will be paid after years of appealing through moral and legal channels."

Chief Pokagon was received with great cheering, waving of hats, etc. He had his speech written out, but only read part of it, as his command of English was not sufficient for the occasion nor his voice strong. This is part of what he said and was said for him: "If any of my countrymen feel the sting of neglect because their rights have been ignored at the great world's fair until now, I beseech them to lay aside all bitterness or spite. Let us not crucify ourselves by going over the bloody trials we have trod in other days, but rather let us hope for the future and rejoice in the present."

The question comes up to us again and again, what can be done for the best good of the race. The answer to me is plain. We must give up the pursuits of our fathers. In place of the gun, bow and arrow, we must take up the plow and live as white men do. They must learn and love to waive the stars and stripes, and at all times rejoice that they are American citizens. Our children must be educated and learned the trades of white men. We must convince the world in this Columbian year, that we are men and not savages."

I was pained to learn that some who should have been interested in our people discouraged our coming to the fair, alleging openly that we were heartless, soulless, and godless. The great west has been swallowed up by the white men and by adoption we are children of this great republic. When I crossed the great line and entered the gates of the white city I stood aghast trying to drink in its vastness. My heart throbbed within me as in boyhood, when the first time, bow in hand, a frightened deer leaped out before me."

Chief John Young was then presented to the people, but he did not speak. The two chiefs, Miss Sickels and Thaddeus S. Taylor, who came to Chicago in 1887, and whose father, Lathorp M. Taylor, of south Bend, was a witness to the sale of Chicago's site by the Pottawatomie, grasped the red, white and blue covered rope made from scores of contributions from all nations at the fair, and gave the big bell a number of quick strokes, followed by the plaudits of the multitude. After being photographed they retired with their friends to see the fair.

The ground of the terminal plaza could not be seen, for the masses of the people who filled it in front of the stand erected for the chorus of the 2,000 voices under the direction of W. L. Tomlins and orchestra. The program was: Overture, "All Nations," "Star Spangled Banner," refrain by the multitude; "Dixie," "My Native Land," "My Old Kentucky Home," "Down on the Suwanee River," and ending with "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean."

While the festival of song and instrumental music was in progress, Chicago's crack society cavalry troop, the Chicago Huzzars passed by on their fine horses from the Midway Plaisance. A path for them was made through the multitude with difficulty.

The face of the earth on the plaza bounded by the terminal station, administration, machinery hall and mining buildings was hidden from human sight at noon by a hundred thousand souls, brought together by a common desire to hear the bell of liberty ring out in honor of Chicago day and see if they could not hear Mayor Harrison, who held the rope of all nations which brought the clapper in contact with the bell. From a height the sea of upturned faces, hats and bonnets presented a picture which has never been seen in this country. The people pushed and crushed against each other, the center of the crush being just around the bell, where the mayor of Chicago stood with rope in hand, prepared to ring out for Chicago.

Miss Sickels presented to him the original deed for the site upon which Chicago is built. The mayor, in accepting the historic relic, in the name of the city, said that the only people on earth who were entitled and merited receiving it were the people of Chicago. He related the early history of Chicago when it was a trading post between the great lake and the Mississippi. He declared Chicago had thriven as no other city had ever thrived. Twenty-two years ago it had been devastated by fire. The pain of its sufferings had gone to the utmost parts of the earth. Like Niobe it was all tears and the world thought it would remain in tears, but with that energy peculiar to the people it has risen phoenix like from the ashes. He acknowledged his descent from the original owners of Chicago and informed the multitude that the blood of Pocahontas flowed in his veins. Chicago would always keep the deed which had just been presented and see that law and order were always maintained so that the city would be come greater.

The tens of thousands then surged away from the bell-ringing scene and quickly dissolved in the mass of humanity which could be seen on every side.

The force of guards was entirely inadequate for the occasion, and complaints of pocket picking, fainting women and struggling people were heard and seen during the half hour which was occupied by the interesting ceremony.

The crowning glory of the anniversary day was the pageantry which 600,000 people viewed within the gates of the Columbian city at night. Soon after the sun went down—to be replaced by the power of electricity—the procession of 26 magnificent floats with their occupants of both sexes entered the fair grounds through the Sixty-second street gate. The first represented Chicago in her growth, lead by the Iowa state band. Then came the genius of music, surrounded by a select chorus of 50 women. The next float represented Chicago and its typical motto, "I will," guided by liberty and surrounded by all states of the Union and welcomed by all people of the Union. At the four corners were music, sculpture, science and literature.

Renewed the Quarrel.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Oct. 10.—Henry Baysinger and Levi Orric, leaders of rival horse trading bands, quarreled yesterday at a mining town about 20 miles south of this place, and Baysinger shot Orric to death with a gun. The men had previously quarreled at Vincennes, and when Baysinger overtook Orric yesterday the row was renewed. Baysinger was promptly arrested and lodged in jail at Sullivan, Indiana.

No Action Taken.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—The nomination of J. J. Van Alen, to be ambassador to Italy, came before the senate in executive session informally yesterday, but no action was taken. A number of senators interested in this nomination were absent and it was laid aside.

Stuck by a Streetcar.

CHICAGO, Oct. 10.—William J. Burr of Ellington, Hopkins county, Ky., was struck by a State street car at Vanburen street and thrown a distance of 20 feet. When picked up he was found to be severely injured and was taken to St. Luke's hospital.

The last float in the procession was "Electra, the Genius of Electricity," drawn by eight horses. It was represented by enormous dragoons, changing colors from green to red and lighted within by 2,000 electric lights.

There was a break in the procession after those illustrating the history of Chicago had passed, and thousands started homeward under the impression that the night pageant was over.

The display of fireworks on the lake front adjoining the grounds was magnificent. The special pieces were illustrative of old Fort Dearborn, the old city hall, Chicago welcoming the world, Old Glory, carried by Baldwin, the aeronaut, into the heavens; Chicago triumphant, being a reproduction of Niagara Falls along the peristyle; the burning of Chicago, covering an area of 14,000 square feet, producing four scenes, and the picture of Chicago's first mayor.

The wooded island was ablaze with fairy lamps.

All the avenues surrounding the court of honor, and every point of importance facing the court, even the top of the peristyle, were filled with spectators of the afternoon procession, which was called the reunion of states. Nearly 3,000 boys and girls accompanied by bands, marched in sections to present the history of commerce and resources of the American states. The standards and shields of the states with their names and the year of their entry in the Union, were borne at the head of each procession.

A large number of casualties resulted at the downtown terminal stations from the overcrowded cars.

Among the injured by minor accidents were:

Charles A. Clark of Buffalo was struck by a gripcar on Madison street and killed.

William J. Burr, Hopkins county, Ky., struck by a gripcar and seriously injured; taken to hospital.

Andrew Wells, Waupaca, Wis., taken to hospital, knocked down by a gripcar.

Miss Nettie Rogers, Columbus, O., Mrs. Matilda Stewart, Fondulac, Wis., and Charles Long, Cincinnati, were all bruised in the crush at the Congress elevated station.

Thomas Robertson of Fremont, Minn., struck by a cablecar at 333 Lincoln avenue, died on the way to the hospital.

James Malcolm, a prominent ranch owner of Iowa, killed by a fall from the Intramural station.

John Dryden, Columbus, O., employed by James Paine Sons, injured by bursting mortar at world's fair grounds. Died later at Mercy hospital.

DRUNK IN MIDAIR.

Freaks of a Painter on the Top of a Telephone Pole.

ATLANTA, Oct. 10.—A drunken painter named Tucker gave a wardance on the narrow platform of a telephone pole, 90 feet above the ground, yesterday afternoon. He carried a flask of whisky and a can of green paint. With the paint he colored himself green from belt to crown. Then he sung and yelled and danced, at the excitement of the crowd.

Two linemen were telephoned for and climbed up. One got through the trapdoor of the platform, when Tucker shut it and would not let the other up. He assaulted the lineman on the platform and they had a thrilling fight. Tucker tried to throw the lineman but the lineman finally got in a blow which knocked Tucker senseless. Tucker was then let down with a rope and taken to the police station.

MISTAKEN FOR A BURGLAR.

WHEELING, Oct. 10.—Near Valley Furnace, Monongalia county, George Baker, a 7-year-old boy, while walking in his sleep, was shot and died in two hours. The little one got up about midnight, and leaving his room, went to that of Jesse Dennis. He tried several doors and a window in an effort to enter the house, awakening Dennis. Dennis took his pistol, and, raising an upstairs window, asked what was wanted. The boy made no reply, and Dennis, thinking him burglar, fired.

New Dominican Head.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—A World special from Louisville says: A new head of the Dominican order in the United States has been chosen at Springfield, Ky. Father A. V. Higgins was on Saturday elected provincial superior. He was born in Perry county, O., 45 years ago. He was educated in St. Joseph's college in Ohio, and was afterward a member of the faculty. For four years he served as prior of St. Joseph's. In 1886 he was transferred to New Haven where he now lives.

Retired After Years.

PORTSMOUTH, O., Oct. 10.—Will Keifer, who early in the eighties was supposed to have been burned on the steamer Golden City at Memphis, has returned. He has been in South America and Australia. He was in California when the steamer was burned, and at that time a man bearing the same name perished.

WORK OF FIREBUGS.

Ten Buildings Burned at Wapakoneta, Ohio.

WAPAKONETA, O., Oct. 10.—Sunday night the most destructive fire in 10 years visited this city. It originated in Dr. A. G. Foreman's office at 8 a. m. and was communicated to an adjoining barn, which burned with fierce rapidity and had gained such headway that the steamer was unable to confine the flames to these buildings. In quick succession three other barns became ignited, and in less than half an hour the powerhouse and two large buildings, composing the Means & Kohler warehouses, were on fire and beyond control.

Two frame buildings owned by Adam Schaffer and Theodore Dickman, situated one on either side and in immediate proximity to the warehouses, had a miraculous escape. After the buildings in the immediate vicinity had been thoroughly drenched with water and were safe, the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton station, which is located about 200 feet north, but in the course of the high wind which was blowing and to which no attention had been paid, suddenly burst out in flames and it was with the greatest difficulty that the lower portion of the structure was saved, the roof being entirely consumed.

Aid was telegraphed for from Lima early during the fire, but the train conveying the engine and hose trucks came too late to be of any service and they were not unloaded. The fire consumed 10 large buildings completely besides four freightcars, several outbuildings and the upper portion of the station. The losses are over $25,000, which is insured for about half. Cause of fire, incendiary.

Wants a New Trial.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 10.—Hiram P. McNight, the lawyer convict, filed a motion in the supreme court for leave to file a petition in error to the circuit court of Wood county. He is now serving a seven-year sentence for forgery committed there. McNight was originally arrested in New York, and secured his freedom by raising the point that he was extradited for one crime and tried for another. He appeared as his own lawyer. On being released he was at once rearrested and tried, getting the sentence he is now serving.

BANK ROBBERS CAPTURED.

WAUPACA, Wis., Oct. 10.—The three men who robbed the bank at Halstead, Minn., on Sept. 25 last, were found near this city. Two were captured but the third escaped and the sheriff is still after him. Cash Eckern is here, and has positively identified one of the men. This man was wounded, and the bullet taken from his leg corresponds with those used in the revolver which Mr. Eckern fired at them while they were making their escape from the bank. Officers are confident that they will capture the third.

TRYING TO SILENCE THE CHIMES.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 10.—Dr. James Leete has applied to the law to silence the chimes of the Pilgrim Congregational church, Twenty-ninth street and Washington avenue. The doctor bases his complaint on the detriment caused his patients by the loud clang of the bells. In a former suit brought by the physicians the court decided the bells could only be rung between 7 a. m. and 7 p. m., with shutters closed. Now he wants them silenced altogether.

LOST HER OWN LIFE.

PEEBLES, O., Oct. 10.—Miss Allie Elsemere, aged 19, was drowned in Lower Twin creek. The young lady, in company with her sister, had been attending a spinningschool and was returning home, both riding one horse. While crossing the creek the younger sister started to fall off the horse, and, in trying to catch her, Miss Elsemere fell into the water and was drowned. The other girl caught hold of the stirrup and managed to escape.

COMPROMISED.

KNOXVILLE, Oct. 10.—Four hundred miners, who have been out on a strike for two months in Coal Creek and Briceville districts, returned to work yesterday on a compromise with the company which was a 10 per cent reduction on the dollar and $1 off on house rent. The reason given by the miners for accepting the compromise was that their wives and children were starving and that they must feed them.

RETURNED AFTER YEARS.

PORTSMOUTH, O., Oct. 10.—Will Keifer, who early in the eighties was supposed to have been burned on the steamer Golden City at Memphis, has returned. He has been in South America and Australia. He was in California when the steamer was burned, and at that time a man bearing the same name perished.

SHERMAN ACT IN THE SENATE.

It Is Discussed by Several Senators but the Question Is No Nearer a Solution Than Before—The Debate on the Federal Election Bill Finally Finished in the House.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—The session of the senate was given up entirely to considering the Sherman act. The question came up in three separate forms. The first was a sort of personal explanation by Mr. Harris (Dem., Tenn.) in reply to resolutions adopted at a joint meeting of the Memphis Cotton and Merchants' Exchange, condemning the course of the Tennessee senators on the question.

Mr. Harris, declared his disregard of a threat contained in the resolutions and said that the maintenance of his self-respect was of vastly more importance to him than any office within the gift of any people.

After that incident, came the resolution offered by Mr. Wolcott (Rep., Colo.) last Saturday, instructing the finance committee to put into legislative form the bimetallic declaration of the policy contained in the Voorhees substitute.

Mr. Wolcott criticised the president for his letter to Governor North of Georgia, characterizing it as "intrusive, offensive and unfitting the relations that should exist between the legislative and executive departments of the government."

Mr. Voorhees made the resolution the groundwork of a speech defending the repeal bill and asserting that the statement that it demonetized silver, even if repeated a hundred thousand times, was not true. He declared that he was ready, when the Sherman law no longer disgraced the statute books, to act promptly in carrying out the pledge which the bill contained.

The Wolcott resolution was finally sent to the calendar, and the repeal bill proper taken up. Upon it Mr. Cockrell (Dem., Mo.) occupied the floor for three hours and half and had not concluded his remarks when the senate at 5:30 adjourned.

IN THE HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—The debate on the federal election bill closed, and the voting will begin today. At no time during the discussion has there been much attention given speakers on either side of the question. Throughout the past 10 days the attendance in the house has been far below the average, and the disputants usually addressed a large array of empty seats. Even the last day of the discussion was not productive of much interest.

The principal speakers on the Republican side were Dolliver of Iowa, Payne of New York and Boutelle of Maine. The latter is one of the aggressive talkers of the house and he introduced some fire into the debate, but it soon died out. New York provided the Democratic controversialists, Coombs, Lockwood and Fitch being its champions. The latter closed the debate in a carefully prepared speech, in which he contended for the repeal of laws providing for the appointment of supervisors and deputy marshals. The house at 4:40 adjourned.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 10, 1893.

MR. ROBERT FICKLIN is announced as a candidate for Councilman in the Fourth Ward. He is one of Maysville's good citizens, and is well fitted for the position. He is one of the present members from that ward.

WINCHESTER people have been claiming of late a population large enough to place their city in the third class, and yet at the registration last week only 1,028 voters were enrolled, nearly 400 less than Maysville's registration. It seems that Maysville ought to get in the third class before Winchester does.

MR. GEORGE C. KEITH formally announced himself Monday as a candidate for Councilman in the Second Ward. Mr. Keith is connected with the Keith-Schroeder Harness Company, and is one of the city's best young men. If elected to the position he can be relied upon for a faithful discharge of his official duties.

THE industrial situation in the Wheeling manufacturing district has greatly improved, and the outlook for the laboring classes in that section is bright. It is estimated that 10,000 men who have been idle in the district will be given employment this week by the resumption of operations in iron-works, nail-works and glass factories.

AN APPEAL FOR THE SUFFERING.

Reports from that section of the South visited by the terrible storm last week bring news of great suffering. The lives lost will reach nearly 2,500, and the survivors had their all swept away.

New Orleans has appealed for help for these sufferers, and it is an appeal that should meet with a ready response. Parties in this city have interested themselves in the matter and are trying to arrange for an entertainment at the opera house, the proceeds to go to the sufferers. Let the good people of Maysville encourage the move in every way possible.

KENTUCKY CROPS.

Report of Commissioner McDowell
For the Month of September.
Tobacco, Corn, &c.

State Commissioner of Agriculture McDowell in his report issued Saturday says:

"The larger part of the tobacco crop is housed. The rains in the last few days caught a great deal that was cut but not housed, and for fear of frost a great deal of green tobacco has been cut. There is a marked improvement in condition this month over last, but the crop is reported by many correspondents as being prematurely ripened and of an inferior quality. Per cent. 73½."

"The corn crop has made a change of eight or ten points since last month. The general opinion has been that there would be about two-thirds of a crop. It remains to be seen whether or not too much improvement is based on the late rains. Much depends on late frosts as to the outcome of the late corn. The early corn has mostly been cut, and much of it has cured up light and chaffy. Per cent. 67½."

"Wheat sowing will advance more rapidly since the rain. The farmers are very backward with this crop, and the indications are that the acreage will not be so large."

"Should the weather continue favorable, fall grasses will be all that could be desired. In many places where there was rain in September the grass is now very fine."

"The condition of stock, horses, mules, cattle and hogs is reported good everywhere. No complaint of any kind except of hog cholera. In one of my reports last fall, I said to the farmers that there was a very great shortage in the hog crop, and from all the information I can get the supply will be fully as short this fall. I failed this month to ask the per cent. of hogs in our State, but will give it in some of the hog-growing States: Illinois, 83 per cent.; Iowa, 82 per cent.; Kansas, 78 per cent. This time last year the per cent. in Kentucky was about 75. If these statements prove to be correct, it means high prices for hogs this fall and winter."

Last Chance to Visit the World's Fair.

The best month at the World's Fair is October. The last chance to go at a surprisingly low rate is on the personally conducted vestibuled special train which will leave Clifton Forge, following F. F. V. train No. 3, 6:05 a. m. Monday, October 16th, running through to Chicago via Cincinnati and the Big Four Railway without change. The rates will surprise you. Call on nearest C. and O. agent for particulars. Round trip rate from Maysville, $7.25.

Pension Examining Board.

Under a recent order from Washington, the Pension Examining Board of this place has been re-organized, Dr. W. H. Evans being retired, and Dr. H. K. Adamson taking his place. No other change will be made.

From the date of the organization in 1884 this board has been one of the most efficient and reliable in the service.

HOME, SWEET HOME.

There's a beautiful realm in the faraway past.
All lovely with sunshine and flowers,
And voices as sweet as the song of the birds.
Laugh away the bright, happy hours;
I can hear them now come echoing back,
As I watch the starry dome,
And memory balsm shine soft and low—
Home, sweet home.

A Nonpoisonous Disinfectant.

Science has been enriched by a medical discovery as important in the domain of therapeutics as chloroform, laudanum and quinine. The great theory of infection by bacillus forms requires, in order to be fruitful of benefit to mankind, the discovery of a powerful germicide. In carbolic acid, in corrosive sublimate and in potassium permanganate science has made long strides in the direction of adequate antiseptics and bacillicides, but these drugs all have their drawbacks. Now, however, Dr. Worrall, a noted scientist, claims to have found among the coal products a disinfecting body apparently superior to all previous ones.

He has named it izal, and Dr. Klein, after a series of exhaustive laboratory experiments, is said to have found it absolutely destructive of the spores of some of the most intractable and malignant diseases. Unlike most powerful disinfectants, it is nonpoisonous to human beings and may be taken internally diluted, while Dr. Klein's experiments go to prove that, diluted with 200 parts water, izal absolutely destroys the vitality of the microbes of diphtheria, scarlatina, glanders, erysipelas and cholera.—New York Telegram.

A Whist Player.

Colley Cibber was playing cards one night at Tom's coffee house in Russell street, Covent Garden, one of the few houses in London which were only open to subscribers. As the cards were dealt to the playful Colley, "he took up every one in turn and expressed his disappointment at every indifferent one." As the game went on, he did not follow suit, whereupon the testy old general cried out, "What, have you not a spade, Mr. Cibber?" The poet laureate, nothing abashed, looked at his cards and answered, "Oh, yes, a thousand," a reply which drew forth a very short and peevish comment from the general.

Colley, who was a very cool customer and was besides "shockingly addicted to swearing," as the narrative says, retorted with "Don't be angry, general, for, damme, I can play 10 times worse if I like."—Temple Bar.

A Silver Party.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 10.—The Post-Dishpatch gives the outline of a plan for a new national party, the outgrowth of the Pan-American bimetallic convention recently held here. Free silver is to be the issue, and it is hoped to draw all the free coinage supporters from the old parties. A convention is to be held in Atlanta in December, it is said, at which a permanent organization will be effected.

Fatal Runaway.

FINDLAY, O., Oct. 10.—W. S. Worsley, aged 26, a painter and paper hanger, while returning from the North Baltimore fair in company with a companion, was thrown from his buggy in a runaway in such a manner as to break his neck, death resulting instantly. His companion escaped with a few bruises, and the buggy was completely demolished.

Looking Over the Books.

FOSTORIA, O., Oct. 10.—The committee of three appointed by the Foster creditors have contracted with Messrs. Doolittle and Lubeck, the Cleveland experts, and these gentlemen have entered upon their duties of going through the books of Foster & Company for the past 10 years. At least six weeks will be consumed before a report can be made.

Taken In.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Oct. 10.—George Wiesenerger, the absconding treasurer of the Columbus (O.) Catholic Benevolent society and Knights of St. George, was arrested in this city yesterday by Detectives Crain and Lehnhard. Chief of Police Pogels of Columbus has ordered the man held and will send an officer after him.

Reducing the Force.

KNOXVILLE, Oct. 10.—The engineers and conductors on the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia railway having failed to agree to a reduction of 10 per cent. in wages to take effect Nov. 1, will be notified in a day or two by the receivers of the road that the force will be reduced one-third, to take effect at once.

Young Man Drowned.

CELINA, O., Oct. 10.—Will Johnson, aged 17, was drowned in Lake Mercer. He was in a small sailboat, and had it anchored. It is supposed that the wind came too strong and upset the boat. The body has not been recovered.

County Court.

The regular October term of the County Court was held yesterday, Judge Phister presiding. But little business was transacted. The following settlements filed at September term were ordered recorded:

P. L. Parker, guardian of Elmer and Robert L. Downing.

James E. and Thomas Molloy, administrators of Peter Molloy.

A. H. Calvert, administrator of Joseph G. Seaman.

John L. Chamberlain, trustee of Weiland & Frost.

GEO. W. SULSER, law, fire insurance.

HAPPILY WEDDED.

Marriage of Judge Thomas R. Phister and Miss Lucy Wadsworth.

The Church of the Nativity the Scene of a Beautiful Nuptial Service This Morning.

"Happy is the bride whom the sun shines on."

If this old saying is true, then happy, indeed, must be the fair bride who took the nuptial vows at the Church of the Nativity this morning. And happy, too, must be the handsome groom.

At 9 o'clock the ceremony that joined the destinies of Judge Thomas R. Phister and Miss Lucy Wilgus Wadsworth was solemnized at the church named, in the presence of an audience that crowded the house to its utmost capacity. The rector, Rev. D. D. Chapin, officiated.

As the bridal party entered the church to the strains of the wedding march, the audience, by request, arose and remained standing until the close of the ceremony, all uniting in the Lord's prayer.

Miss Anna Forse, of Newport, was bridesmaid and lead the bridal party as they approached the altar. She was followed by the two ushers, Mr. Harry C. Curran and Mr. Henry Wadsworth, Jr., a brother of the bride. Then came the maid of honor, Miss Anna Whitaker, who was followed by the bride, accompanied by her father. They were joined at the altar by the groom who, with his best man, Mr. Harry Barkley, had approached from the side entrance.

The bride is a granddaughter of the late Hon. W. H. Wadsworth, being the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Wadsworth. She was attired in a pretty costume of white broadcloth, with hat to match. The bridesmaid and maid of honor also wore white.

The groom is the eldest son of the late Hon. E. C. Phister. He is the present Judge of the County Court, and was honored last Saturday by his party with a nomination for re-election. He and his lovely bride have a host of warm admirers and friends who unite in wishing them a future as bright as the day on which they were wedded. The happy couple left on the 10 a. m. train for Chicago.

DRAWING JURIES.

The New Law Provides a Method Which Has Not Yet Been Followed.

A question involving the entire machinery of the courts of the State has just been brought up by the publication of the acts of the late Legislature. Chapter 210 provides the only mode for drawing grand juries and petit juries.

It says the drawing shall be done by a revolving drum or wheel case, to be selected by the Auditor, Secretary of State and Attorney General.

The Secretary, though custodian of the laws, overlooked the important matter of providing these wheels until last Saturday, and the other officers not having any published acts could not inform themselves in time to have the wheels made and sent out to counties, and as juries can be drawn in no other way, it is a question of more than ordinary moment as to what effect verdicts by juries otherwise drawn would have in all, civil and criminal cases tried before the wheels can be made and furnished the counties.

Proper diligence now will be exercised to supply wheels at the earliest time possible.

AS USUAL the First National Bank comes to the front with an excellent showing. Total resources over $650,000; loans and discounts nearly $500,000; individual deposits $264,161.22, and undivided profits over $16,000. See statement.

DON'T fail to see the elegant gold filled watches at Murphy's for $12.50; silver watches for $6—the best values ever offered for the money. Prices on all other goods in proportion, at P. J. Murphy's, the jeweler, successor to Hopper & Murphy.

PERSONS needing odd pieces of furniture will do well to call at the residence of the late Mrs. Emily Pearce, corner of Fourth and Market streets. All the household goods are for sale and it is desired to close them out as soon as possible, regardless of cost.

You will dream you dwell in marble halls, if you walk into Ballenger's, view yourself in the great mirror, tread on the marble tiles to the ceaseless ticking of sweet-voiced clocks, midst the flashing of diamonds, the radiance of gold, and the glitter of silver. It isn't really the marble hall you sing about; only Ballenger's beautiful jewelry store.

THE new ocean steamship line of the Chesapeake and Ohio railway seems to be making itself felt already. A St. Louis dispatch states that eastbound freight rates are on the verge of demoralization, the lines competing with the Big Four charging that the latter is putting grain into Liverpool for less than twenty-seven cents from the Mississippi.

WILLIAM GAMBY, an old colored man, about eighty years of age, was buried near Germantown Sunday afternoon. Before the war he was the property of Joseph Frazee, deceased. He was born and raised on the farm where he was buried. With the exception of one year immediately after the war, he spent his life in sight of the place where he was buried. His life as a Christian was worthy of imitation.

THE GERMANTOWN FAIR.

The Thirty-Ninth Annual Meeting Will Commence To-morrow—Preparations For a Big Week.

The thirty-ninth annual fair at Germantown commences to-morrow and closes Saturday.

The company reports more fine stock on the grounds than ever before this early in the week, and the exhibition in the arena will be one of the best in the history of the fair. Parties have come from St. Louis and Central Kentucky to compete for the blue ribbon.

Professor Burke, the daring aeronaut, will give balloon ascensions and parachute drops Friday and Saturday, in full view of the assembled multitudes.

MISS CARRIE BRADFORD.

Death Claims One of Aberdeen's Fairest and Most Estimable Young Ladies.

Death claimed one of Aberdeen's most estimable young ladies this morning.

At the hour of 4 o'clock Miss Carrie Bradford passed peacefully away at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. N. Bradford.

Deceased had been in failing health for a year or so. During a visit in the spring she contracted a heavy cold, which settled on her lungs and developed into consumption. The climate of Colorado was tried, but with bad result, and she returned home not long ago in a very serious condition. All that loving hands and medical skill could do was done, but she continued to grow worse, and the end came this morning at the hour named.

Deceased was about twenty-two years of age. Her many estimable traits won her friends wherever she was known, and these friends will learn with sincere sorrow of her death.

The funeral arrangements have not been announced at this writing.

MT. GILEAD.

Mrs. Bettie Glascock is on the sick list.

R. T. Bradley, of Lexington, visited relatives here last week.

L. T. Goebke, of Mt. Carmel, was here last week buying tobacco.

G. D. Wilson, of Orangegburg, was a visitor to our town Thursday.

Frank Clift, of Mayslick, was in our midst last week buying fat cattle.

Marion Tolle and wife, of Stone Lick, visited relatives here last week.

W. P. Bramel and J. L. Savage were in Maysville Friday on business.

Harry Foxworthy, of Mt. Carmel, is clerking for J. L. Savage this week.

Mrs. C. A. Goodman, of Wedonia, visited her father, S. R. Walker, Friday.

Quite a number of our sports will attend the races at Lexington this week.

H. C. Sharp and H. D. Watson, of Maysville, were here Thursday on business.

Dr. Cook and daughter, of Wedonia, were the guests of the Misses Morehead Saturday.

M. B. Tolle, of Orangegburg, was the guest of H. Clay Stone and family Saturday and Sunday.

Miss Mattie Ravencraft, a charming young lady of Ashland, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. J. R. Howard.

Several of our young people attended the dance at Frank Hopper's Friday night. All report a delightful time.

A party of five, J. B. Bradley, J. L. Savage and Misses Lida Morehead and Clara Davis, of this place, and Mrs. Anna Glascock, of Mt. Carmel, left Sunday for Chicago, where they will spend a week viewing the great World's Fair.

GERMANTOWN.

Efficient police and good order are promised during the fair.

Sheeler & Power promise all who patronize the dining hall a good meal.

Benjamin Tyler and family, of Cynthiana, are guests of J. A. Thompson.

George Bishop, of Maysville, visited his parents Sunday, riding out on his bicycle.

A well founded rumor says there will be a wedding on "hunger hill" very soon.

Thompson & Co. arrived with their "merry-go-round" on Saturday and will set up at the fair grounds.

Mrs. M. O. Dora, of Maysville, and Mrs. Sarepta Galbraith, of Bridgewater, were guests of Mrs. Dora Sunday.

Miss Lillie Smoot and Miss Lottie Perrine, of Mason County, spent Monday night as guests of Miss Jennie Barton.

The stables at the fair grounds are filling with fine blooded horses from a distance, among them a very fine one from St. Louis. All that is needed is good weather for the finest fair ever held on the grounds.

Wm. Gambia, an aged and well known colored man formerly owned by the Frazee family, who respected him highly, died on last Saturday and was buried at the old family graveyard on Sunday. He was noted for his constant attendance at the Christian Church, of which he had been a faithful member for half a century or more, and for his strict integrity and upright conduct as a man.

MARYSLICK.

Another big rain last week.

The grass is growing nicely.

Plenty of water now for all purposes.

October is putting in some nice weather.

Mrs. Richard Myall and her three children, who have been spending the summer here, left for their home in Missouri last Friday.

Elder E. L. Frazier, who is conducting the meeting at the Christian Church, is a forcible speaker and very plain in presenting the truth. The meeting is growing in interest. Let all attend that can.

The Synod of Kentucky.

The Synod of Kentucky will be opened with a sermon by Rev. Mr. Erwin, of Dayton, in the newly furnished upper room of the First Presbyterian Church this evening at 7:30 o'clock. A cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend this and the other meetings of the Synod.

Shot a Big Fish.

Messrs. Charley Davis, Dan Shafer, John Baird and William Hancock were fishing at the head of Brooks Bar yesterday morning when they noticed quite a commotion in the water near by. The next instant a huge catfish, that was chasing a small fish, ran out in the shallow water. Davis seized a pistol and Shafer a shotgun and after firing several shots into the fish, they succeeded in landing it. It weighed fifty-four pounds.
